

Media Downloader

Read This First

v1.2.2 Trial Build / macOS Monterey 12 or later

About the security warning

This warning does not mean that macOS detected malware.

This trial build has not yet been signed with an Apple Developer ID or notarized by Apple. macOS therefore cannot automatically verify the developer or check whether the app changed after release, so it warns on first launch. yt-dlp and FFmpeg are bundled with the app; no Homebrew or Terminal setup is required.

Only open a copy downloaded from the official release page.

github.com/N3PP4/media-downloader/releases

Before installation

1

Choose the version for your Mac

M1 / M2 / M3 / M4 or later

Apple Silicon version

Intel processor

Intel version

2

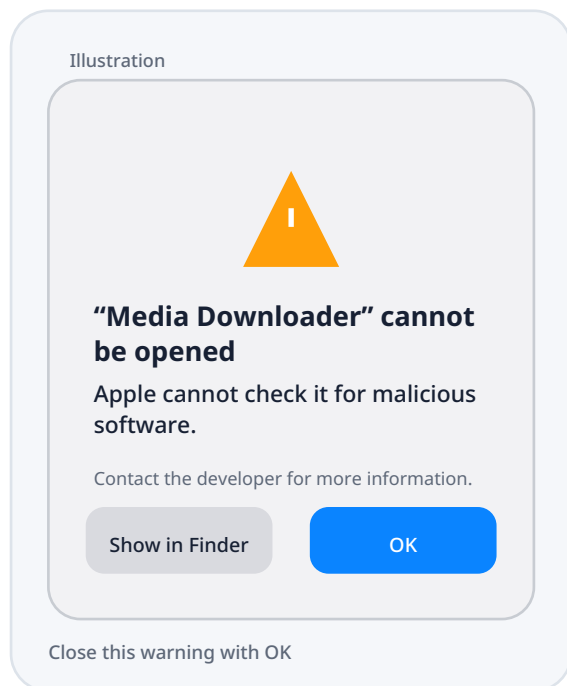

Drag the app to Applications

If macOS shows a warning on first launch, use the next page to allow only this app to open.

If macOS blocks the first launch

macOS Sonoma / Monterey

- 1 Close the warning with OK
You do not need to delete the app or the DMG.
- 2 Open System Settings
Apple menu > System Settings
- 3 Select Privacy & Security
Choose it in the sidebar, then scroll down.
- 4 Click Open Anyway
Confirm with your Mac password or Touch ID.

This does not disable security for all of macOS. Only Media Downloader is saved as an exception, and you can open it normally next time.

Where to find Open Anyway

If the button is not shown: Double-click Media Downloader again to reproduce the warning, then check this screen within about one hour. Labels and positions may vary slightly by macOS version.

Apple instructions: support.apple.com/guide/mac-help/mh40616/mac